

Century Industries, Inc. Announces New Innovative Folding Attic Stairway Features

Little Rock, Arkansas - With homeowners continually looking for ways to conserve energy and lower their heating and cooling expenses, Century Industries is now offering three different weather stripping options for our folding attic stairways.

Attic stairways weather stripping

- Optional Factory-Installed Bulb Weather Stripping – an industry-first
- Four-Sided Weather Stripping – an industry-first
- Optional User-Installed Weather Stripping
- These features can be added to any of our existing options, such as Thermo Shield and Fireguard

These expanded weather stripping options seal the attic doors to the frames while preventing air drafts from entering living quarters and the space below the attic. Century Industries is now taking orders for our factory-installed weather stripping options, which will be available beginning March 17, 2008.

Other Product Enhancements & News

- Handrails

In response to product studies and customer feedback, Century Industries has made changes to increase the strength of the handrail brackets used on our folding attic stairways. These enhancements address the stress and wear-and-tear that the handrails are subjected to with routine use and will improve the safety and durability of our product.

- Springs

In our continual quest to provide the marketplace with a quality, safe and easy-to-use product, we have increased the strength of the springs for a tighter seal of the door panel. We have also modified the spring mechanisms of our stairways, incorporating our industry-only Red-Nut J-Bolt technology for each spring. This unique feature enables home owners to safely adjust door tension while the stairs are completely down, instead of getting into the attic with the door closed to disconnect the spring from the power-arm to make the same adjustments.

Coming Soon

- 22 1/2-inch and 30-inch wide, 12-foot Aluminum Folding Attic Stairways

As a result of consumer demand, Century Industries is excited to announce these new enhanced folding attic stairways, which will be available soon. The 30-inch aluminum stairway is an industry-first. Both products meet market code requirements and will be certified through an independent certification organization.
